

For the Greater Good

Putting the people's lives and safety first, the dauntless and selfless Chinese military personnel put aside their own family and gave best care to the patients, a heartwarming testimony of the fish-and-water bond between the Chinese military and the Chinese people in the new era.

Cured and discharged from hospital, two patients salute the military medics.

On Chinese New Year's Eve, a military medic gives a farewell embrace to her sister before going to Wuhan.

On Chinese New Year's Eve, a military medic wipes away her daughter's tears before going to Wuhan.

In order to "win the battle with zero infection", female military medics cut their hair short.

A military medic visits a recovered patient to check on her and take blood samples.

After wearing protective gears for over 8 hours everyday, a military medic gets deep impressions on her face.

Taking off the rubber gloves at the end of a day's work, a military medic in the intensive care unit gets puffy hands.

Before entering the intensive care unit, military medics encourage each other and take a group photo.

"I really want to hug you", one cured patient tells the medical team.

A patient thumps up toward military medics at the Wuhan Hankou Hospital, on Jan. 27.